An Iowa Visitor's Conclusions as to St. Cloud People.

(From the Central City (Iowa) News.) Arriving in St. Cloud, we were met at the train by E. R. Wetherbee, formerly a resident of Central City, Linn County, who kindly conveyed us in his auto first to headquarters to register and then to our pleasant boarding place, secured in advance by him in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Marsh, on corner of Florida avenue and Eighth Cloud and Lake East Tohopekaliga.

St. Cloud and Lake East Tohopekaliga.
St. Cloud is beautifully located on a level 85 feet above sea level and surrounded by lakes. We found here a contented, intelligent and happy people, satisfied with their holdings, the climate, their future prospects and with each other, and anxious to have other good, enterprising people make Bt. Cloud their home. St. Cloud being only 11 months old, it could not be expected that it would be a city, finished and improved like our Northern cities, but it is indeed remarkable what has been accomplished in so short a time. Already we see a fine three-story hotel. a fine bank building and post office, many substantial business blocks and fine residences in many parts of the city. An ice plant, an electric light plant and city water supply is almost completed. The M. E. Church and Presbyterian Church will be built this Fall, and the contract is let for the new school building.

"St. Cloud will soon be a modernbuilt city, with fine streets, homes, lawns and beautiful shade trees of magnolia, bay trees, umbrella, camphor and other shade trees. What has been accomplished in raising bananas, pineapples, peaches, all kinds of citrous fruits and all kinds of vegetables, ber-ries, etc., in the vicinity of St. Cloud can, with industry and patience, be raised there in a short time. We saw many fine orange groves, pineapple orchards and banana fields, showing that they can and will be raised on the five and 10-acre tracts of the Seminole Land and Investment Company, many of them now owned by the veterans and being improved. With a climate that is as near perfect as possible, with a land company to aid in all possible what can hinder the rapid development and growth of St. Cloud. Having spent 11 pleasant days in St. Cloud and formed many acquaintances. we left on the morning of July 5 wondering and not knowing whether it Moure-I. H. Brasted.

He makes a specialty of treating Kidney Trouble, Bladder Trouble and Rheumatism-Uric Acid diseases. He has spent his life in this specialty. He has the training in these diseases of a thousand ordinary physicians—he has prescribed for over a quarter of a million sufferers from these diseases. (Let him send you his Book of Cures, giving names and addresses.) These remedies have been sent to a quarter of a million people in recent years, and the fact that every day new patients write to Dr. Lynott, proves that they MUST cure or the sufferers would not recommend others.

These remedies-the result of a generation of study and effort-will prove to you by a few days' use in your own home that the painful kidney aches can be permanently stopped; that the urine can be cleared and made healthy-looking; that the too frequent desire to urinate will grow less and
